Cutbacks blow to college plans

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PLANS to create an all-through academy at Haverhill's Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College have been axed.

The blow came as the Government announced it had put a stop to the Building for Schools programme.

Staff and governors at Castle Manor had been celebrating back in March after hearing their bid to become an All Through School – which aims to provide smoother educational progression and support for pupils aged 5 to 19 – had been approved.

A Government report published at the time said Castle Manor, which was again ranked in the top 200 of most improved schools in the country this year, has made “remarkable progress” and recommended fast-tracking the college to All Through Academy status.

But Education Secretary Michael Gove announced £1 billion in cuts this week, which included scrapping the entire Buildings for Schools project. The decision affects 715 school building projects.

Only two projects in Suffolk have been spared. Castle Manor was one of those listed as “stopped”.

Works already under way – such as the building of a new Clements Primary School – will be completed – and the town's middle schools will still close in September.

Perfect day: glorious sunshine brought out huge crowds to this year's Haverhill Show, organised in association with the Weekly News. Visitors enjoyed various demonstrations and arena events, along with carnival rides and games, above. The baby show again proved popular, as did the dog show where Alice Weir, 9, and Barney, left, were among the lucky winners. See full story and more pictures – Pages 14 & 15.

Vandals pull down fence

A GROUP of five or six white males in their mid to late teens and carrying rucksacks, pulled down fencing around a building site.

The damage happened at Greenfields Way, Haverhill, where a new primary school is being built, at around 12.40pm on Sunday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Matt Hammill at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Customers tuck in and raise cash

GENEROUS visitors tuck into some tasty strawberry treats and dug deep in their pockets to help raise £130 for a cancer charity.

The Weekly News office in Queen Street was transformed into a mouth-watering cake shop last Thursday morning as staff tempted customers who visited their Strawberry Tea event in aid of the charity Breast Cancer Care, one of hundreds held across the country.

Tesco supported the event by donating strawberries and cream to adorn the cakes. Some customers stocked up with stacks of cakes, others resisted temptation, but donated cash anyway.

Staff at the Weekly News would like to thank everyone for their generous support for a very worthy charity, which aims to raise more than half a million pounds to make sure Breast Cancer Care continues to be there for anyone affected by the disease.

Thousands of people rely on the group for skilled emotional and practical support when they need it most.

Free entry to vintage rally

MORE than 100 vintage vehicles, including cars, lorries, vans, fire engines, military vehicles and buses will be on display at a rally this weekend.

The Haverhill Historic Transport Rally and Road Run takes place on Sunday in the town hall car park, behind the arts centre, between 10am and 5pm, with admission free.

This is the second year that Haverhill Town Council, which is sponsoring the event, has worked with the Historical Commercial Vehicle Society (East Anglia area) to bring the rally to the town.

The Eastern National Preservation Society will be running free bus rides on the vintage vehicles around the town every 30 minutes from 1pm to 4pm, leaving from the rear of the arts centre.

Inside the arts centre the bar and bistro will be open for drink and refreshments and a selection of historic transport films will be shown.

The road run leaves Haverhill at 11.30am, visiting Steeple Bumpstead, Wickhambrook, Hundon and Kedington. At 4pm the town mayor, Cllr Elaine McManus, will present trophies to the winners of various categories.

Town clerk Gordon Mussett said: "The 2009 rally was very successful and we received excellent feedback. In fact, one local lady was heard to say that it was the 'best day she had ever spent in Haverhill'. Now there's a review and a half."

Police seek views on opening hours

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

HOURS of opening to the public are to be reduced at a town's police station and residents are being asked what times they think the doors should be open.

Inspector Chris Galley, sector commander for Haverhill, said the town's police station, like others in the county was having its opening hours changed by Suffolk Police Authority.

At present the station is open to the public, with the front desk manned, from 9am to 6pm. New opening hours to come into operation later this year will be from 9am to 5pm on Saturday and Sunday, and for eight hours between 7am and 6.30pm weekdays.

Inspector Galley stressed that the changes related purely to when the front desk was open to the public, and that officers would continue to be working in the station as they do now, at other times.

A range of possible options are being put forward, ranging from 7am-3pm, 8am to 4pm, 9am to 5pm, 10am to 6pm or 10.30am to 6.30pm.

Inspector Galley said: "We are asking the public to let us know when they would prefer the police station to be open and which hours are more convenient to them. It does not mean the police are not working outside of those hours, it is purely when we are open to the public."

"I prefer my officers to be outside the station on patrol, rather than sitting behind a counter where they might only get one person come in over three hours.

"It is about focussing on those key times when most people want to come in to produce documents, inquire about lost property or seek information."

"There are also a number of other ways for people to contact us, by telephone, e-mail or through the SNT website."

Anyone with views on the opening hours can visit the police station or give them at the website www.suffolk.police.uk by July 31.

Knife-wielding addict spared jail sentence

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A DRUG user who approached a group of frightened teenagers carrying two knives has been spared prison.

Long-term drug user John Harden, 45, was told by Judge David Goodin when he appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday that most cases of knife related crime resulted in immediate imprisonment.

But he said as Harden was making efforts to tackle his problems and the incident had been started by someone else, the six-month prison term he was imposing would be suspended for 12 months.

Harden, of Bishops Close, Haverhill, was told: "Whether or not you go to prison will now be a matter for you."

A pre sentence report said that Harden at one time had been receiving the area's largest prescription for the heroin substitute methadone as he battled his addiction. At the height of his addiction he had been spending between £200 and £300 a day on illegal drugs.

Harden pleaded guilty to possession of a bladed article in a public place and failing to surrender to custody.

The court was told that on May 16 last year, a group of young Polish teenagers had been sitting on a bench in Market Square, Newmarket, when they were approached by Harden's then girlfriend Nicola Osborne.

Osborne, who last month was jailed for 15 months after admitting affray in connection with the same incident, had mistakenly believed that one of the youngsters had stolen her mobile phone.

Prosecutor Michael Crimp said that as one girl phoned for police and an ambulance, the group saw Harden approach carrying two knives.

Mr Crimp said: "Whatever his intentions were it clearly caused some alarm. It was accepted by the prosecution that Harden had pushed both knives into the ground and had not used them to make any threats."

Harden had a large number of previous convictions for drug and theft offences but the last had been in 2005. He had been due to be sentenced with Osborne but failed to arrive at court that day after hearing of her jail term.

Katherine Moore, mitigating, said that Harden was not a habitual carrier of weapons and the offence had been entirely out of character.

Rally runners set for treasure hunt

BUSINESSMEN and women will abandon their sat navs and looking for clues at an annual treasure hunt on Tuesday.

The hunt, organised by Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, starts at The Cock Inn pub in Thurlow at 6pm and takes place around Haverhill and surrounding villages.

Each team will be given clues and the group which finds the most answers win.

Sarah Howard, chairman of the chamber, said: "Members and non members of the chamber can bring family and friends along. Entry is free but places must be booked in advance."

Up for grabs: Max Boxall, 6, and Milly Roach, 6, with the signed T-shirt, which will be raffled on Saturday.

Popstars sign up to fund play equipment

YOUNG JLS fans will be spending their pocket money this weekend in the hopes of winning a T-shirt signed by the popstars.

Kedington Primary School pupil Max Boxall was the envy of his classmates when he brought along the T-shirt, which will be up for grabs at the school's fete on Saturday.

Max's mum Karen is a police officer and managed to get hold of the special prize from a colleague who happens to be the father of band member, Aston.

School secretary Rachel Darvill said: "The children were quite excited, the group is just their age group really."

"Max's parents are holding a separate raffle for it and all the money we raise is going towards a special type of outside play equipment. We have already raised £8,000 over the past year and our target is £10,000."

Proceeds from the summer fete, which runs from 1-3.30pm, will go towards topping up the fund. The fete will feature stalls and a sideshow with face painting, bungee running, a bouncy castle and 'soak the dinner lady'.

Money will also be raised at a barn dance to be held at Kedington Community Centre at 8pm on Saturday night.

Tickets for the raffle and the barn dance, at £7.50 adults, £2.50 children, £20 family ticket, will be on sale at the school.

Death road gets camera

CAMPAIGNERS have welcomed work to begin installing a speed camera close to a junction where two teenagers died on the A1307.

Esther Cornell, of the Access 1307 group, welcomed the start of work close to the Cardinals Green junction where both 15-year-old Imogen Barker and Alice Westland, 16, died in separate collisions after getting off buses.

Mrs Cornell said the camera had been promised around 18 months ago and although it was a long time coming, was very welcome. Although she was pleased that the rate of fatalities on the road – once dubbed a 'road of death' – had slowed down, she felt this was more due to luck than anything else.

She said: "Anything that will help with speed on the A1307 is welcome. There are still accidents and it is getting harder and harder to access the road at the junctions to all the villages. There are still children crossing the road at the Hildersham junction. Expecting residents to cross a road that carries nearly 20,000 vehicles a year without a crossing point is not on."

"We made representations at the core strategy meeting earlier this year and we believe that developers must be made to contribute to more improvements to the road."

A spokesman for Cambridgeshire County Council said the camera pole and box had been installed, but the camera would not operate until the electricity supply was connected, which should be in the next few weeks.

Eva tells pupils of Holocaust

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A WOMAN who was born in a concentration camp and had 15 members of her family killed at Auschwitz has shared her story with almost 300 schoolchildren.

Eva Clarke and her mother were the only survivors in the family, with her father, three grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins all killed.

Students at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill heard the testimony from Holocaust survivor, Eva, as part of a visit organised by the Holocaust Educational Trust (HET).

The testimony was followed by a question and answer session.

The visit was part of the Holocaust Educational Trust's extensive all year round Outreach Programme, which is available to schools across the UK.

Esther Maxwell, history teacher, said: "It is a privilege for us to welcome Eva Clarke to our school and her testimony will remain a powerful reminder of the horrors so many experienced. We are grateful to the Holocaust Educational Trust for co-ordinating the visit and we hope that by hearing Eva's testimony, it will encourage our students to learn from the lessons of the Holocaust and make a positive difference in their own lives."

Karen Pollock, chief executive of the Holocaust Educational Trust said: "The trust educates and engages students from across the UK, from all communities, about the Holocaust and there can be no better way than through the first-hand testimony of a survivor. Eva's story is one of tremendous courage during horrific circumstances and by hearing her testimony, students will have the opportunity to learn where prejudice and racism can ultimately lead.

"We impart the history of the Holocaust to young people, to ensure that we honour the memory of those whose lives were lost and take forward the lessons taught by those who survived."

Cuts hit college's all though project

Castle Manor's bid to become an All Through school goes back to 2003 when Madeleine Vigar was appointed headteacher.

In March, she said: "Our school's long-standing goal has been to ensure a joined up approach to learning which takes account of students' previous learning and ensures that they are prepared for the next phase of education."

"I am certain that this will secure even greater success for children, young people and families in our community."

In this year's national league tables Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College demonstrated that its students had made outstanding progress, with the number of students achieving 5 GCSE A* - C grades significantly above national averages for the second year running.

Ms Vigar was unavailable for comment this week.

Couple launch YouTube campaign over house

A COUPLE who have been trying to get something done about the dilapidated house and overgrown garden next door to their home have made a YouTube video as part of their campaign.

Hamish and Emma Haughey have lived in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, for the past four and a half years and say they have never seen anyone go in or out of the house.

Hamish said: "The house is obviously a complete wreck

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

now. The chimney looks like it is falling apart from the back of the property and is seriously in need of some building work or re-pointing. It concerns us that in a heavy storm, the whole chimney could topple down into our garden, or into the high street, injuring anyone standing below.

"Every year, my wife and I have to find a spare weekend at the beginning of summer and then again later in the year to cut back the property's garden. There are bramble bushes and all sorts of other flora that invade our own property, damaging our fence and blocking all of the evening sun from our garden. It makes it very difficult for us to have people over for barbecues, garden parties etc.

"To add insult to injury, part of our decision to buy our home was that it had decking and a patio, with no lawn to maintain, as we are both very busy, hard-working career-oriented people at the moment. When we decide to have children, it's going to be very difficult for us to remain in our home with the house next door being as it is."

The couple say the property's garden is also a rats nest and they just want someone to make it liveable. They tried to trace the owner through the Land Registry and have been in contact with St Edmundsbury Borough Council about the problem, but so far without any success.

Hamish said their problem was a prime example of the travesty of empty properties around the country.

He said: "Nearly five years of standing empty in today's housing market seems totally unacceptable. There are new build estates popping around all over the place, and yet perfectly good houses such as this one are standing empty, falling into dereliction.

"Haverhill is an upcoming town, with a new cinema, supermarket in the centre of town, new houses and families moving in etc. It's an ideal commuter town for areas such as Cambridge, Bury St Edmunds, Newmarket and Braintree, and it is a disgrace that a house should be allowed to fall into this condition on a main road into the town, devaluing surrounding properties, impacting on environmental health, inconveniencing neighbouring residents and making the town look shabby."

A spokesperson for St Edmundsbury Borough Council said: "This is a privately-owned property and responsibility in the first instance lies with the owner to ensure that it does not present a hazard to neighbours and to the public at large through structural instability or environmental health hazards.

Problem: above, Hamish and Emma Haughey who have been complaining about the empty, dilapidated house next door to them, left, for more than four years.

Picture: Keith Jones 661420/54/17.

"Although the council has been in regular contact with the owner, it has not resulted in any improvement in the situation and we are now seeking legal advice as to the appropriate action available to the council."

Mayor on night walk for charity

TOWN mayor Elaine McManus is inviting women to take part in a ladies night with a difference.

Cllr McManus's chosen charity for her year of office is St Nicholas Hospice Care and she has volunteered to enter the ladies night walk on Saturday, September 18, in Bury St Edmunds.

The annual event sees women wear their pyjamas to do an 11-mile night time walk around Bury St Edmunds.

Last year's event attracted 300 women and raised £60,000.

The town mayor is also hoping to get as many women as possible, either from groups or as individuals, from in and around Haverhill, to enter the event together. She is hoping to organise a coach to transport everyone to Bury St Edmunds and is willing to provide liquid refreshment for the journey home afterwards.

Anyone who is interested in taking part can contact Cllr McManus on (01440) 712858 or for more information about the walk, visit www.stnicholas-hospice.org.uk/Events/Girls+Night+Out+2010

Police to greet and meet public

SAFER Neighbourhood Team officers at Haverhill will hold police street meets on Saturday at Sainsburys in Haycocks Road, from 10am-11am and at Tesco in Cangle Road from 3pm-4pm.

They will also hold street meets next Thursday at Tesco in Cangle Road from 6pm-7pm and next Friday, at ALDI in Lordscroft Lane from 10am-11am.

Safety fence to be put up

A FENCE is to be put up to stop children from running into the road chasing balls from a playing field.

Members of Haverhill Town Council have agreed to pay for the fence, costing around £4,000, at Queensway, Haverhill, after residents in the area called for action.

The grassed area slopes down on to the road and there have been some near misses, with people running into the path of on-coming traffic.

The town council had set aside £10,000 to provide speed humps in the road to reduce the speed of traffic. However, after a meeting with Suffolk County Council highways staff, it was decided that a fence would be cheaper to provide and more effective.

A continuous metal fence will be provided on the back edge of the footpath along the length of the playing field. The remainder of the cash set aside will be used for other projects, including contributing towards the £600 cost of providing a bench around a tree on the playing field. Parkway Residents Association has provided £50 towards this and St Edmundsbury Borough Council has funded the seat base.

Celebration to mark new gates

STRIKING new gates designed by local students will be celebrated next week.

The new leaf-shaped gates are to be put up at either end of Queen Street in Haverhill, with a celebration and afternoon of activities to follow in the street from 1.30pm next Friday.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council has organised the event to celebrate the new work of art, conceived and created by the schools of Haverhill.

Pupils from several schools worked on the designs for the gates, which will prevent traffic entering the street between 10am and 4pm, and were made at a local company.

Traders in Queen Street decided to join in the celebration and will be staging their own events

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed the Haverhill Rovers team. It was taken in February, 1981.

A reader in France wrote in with memories of our picture of June 24, which showed a presentation to Ron Shelley at Haverhill ATC's headquarters in October, 1987, and also sent in a copy of the original article.

John Shelley, from St Ciers, said: "One of your Memories pictures has been brought to my attention. The couple are Ron and Bea Shelley, my parents. Sadly both are no longer with us. I don't know exactly when the presentation was, but my father sent me two cuttings from local papers on November 3, 1987. The presentation was on a Monday so, allowing for paper production time, was probably Monday, October 26, 1987 or maybe Monday, October 19, 1987.

"The presentation was by the Haverhill Air Training Corps (ATC) Squadron."

Duo embark on epic mountains challenge

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FRIENDS Carl Mynott and Dennis Taylor are set to tackle some of the UK's highest mountains to raise vital funds for the RSPB.

The epic adventure will see the Haverhill pair climb a combined height of 40,000 vertical feet, covering 40 miles of challenging terrain – on foot and unsupported.

They will set off on Saturday, with two overnight camps required, and they will carry everything they need for the entire journey on their backs.

Carl, 34, said: "My dad and one of my schoolteachers were my inspiration for loving the outdoors and, in particular, the wildlife out there.

"The first bird I can really remember that set my mind going was the kestrel hovering above the fields near Haverhill.

"My interest in the RSPB grew and I volunteered at Lakenheath Fen for a couple of years.

On the up: Carl Mynott and Dennis Taylor, who are taking on the Top Ten mountains in the UK for the RSPB.

"Dennis and I have been doing challenges for many years, but we wanted to do something for the RSPB that would top everything."

The RSPB is the largest wildlife conservation organisation in Europe, with over one million members. The group's work is focussed on the species and habitats that are in the greatest danger.

A spokesman for the RSPB said: "The support of people like Carl and Dennis means that the RSPB can continue with the vital work that brings people closer to nature, restores and manages habitat and protects iconic species like the bittern and red kite."

The mountains included on the duo's list are in three areas of the Scottish Highlands, which will require two car journeys between the sessions on foot.

They said they have been doing as much training as possible for their adventure.

Carl added: "Preparation-wise, there is no substitute for actually hill walking and mountain climbing as training so we have been doing as much of that as we can over the past months.

"This will be a really tough physical challenge and a struggle as far as logistics is concerned.

"We thought that it was an ideal challenge to raise as much money as we can for the RSPB."

World Cup fun for tots

TINY Rooney's and Ronaldo's turned up at a pre-school group as a World Cup Fun Day kicked off.

A group of 18 youngsters aged between two and five years attended the Thurlow Pre-School group on Monday wearing football strip or colours from different countries involved in the World Cup.

Lindsay Parsons, leader of the group, said the children enjoyed football-based songs and games, tried their hands at playing the vuvuzela and tucked into food from different countries.

She said: "We had quite a lot of England, a couple of Germany and also some whose parents come from Scotland. It was a very enjoyable, fun day."

The group has some vacancies in its new building, which opened in January, with a breakfast club from 8am and normal sessions from 9am to 3.20pm. Anyone interested in places should contact Helen on (01440) 783688.

MP raises 'Constable country' plan in House

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CONCERNS about plans to build a windfarm in a part of the Suffolk countryside which inspired artist John Constable have been raised in Parliament.

BT has applied to St Edmundsbury Borough Council for planning permission for between three and six turbines on land between Clare and Stoke by Clare.

Matthew Hancock, MP for West Suffolk, raised the issue in the House of Commons and asked energy and climate change minister Charles Hendry what plans he had to take account of local public opinion in determining the location of onshore wind farms.

The minister said the Government wanted communities to benefit directly from any wind farms that they hosted. Councils would be allowed to keep the additional business rates paid by wind farms and support communities in having a stake in appropriately sited renewable energy projects such as wind farms.

Mr Hancock said: "Is he aware of the proposal to build a wind farm near to Stoke by Clare in my constituency, which is in the area of the country that was most often painted by John Constable? What powers will local people have to decide whether that would be appropriate?"

Mr Hendry said: "We are very keen to ensure that such developments have local support. We want to see more local community partnerships in this area and more financial benefit going to those communities."

After the debate, Mr Hancock said local concerns about the visual impact on a wind farm in the area had already been raised with him, and fellow MP Tim Yeo, who also had part of the land in his constituency, had registered his opposition to the plan.

Mr Hancock said: "I am all in favour of them off-shore, I think they are fantastic. But I just don't think this is the right place for them."

Mr Hendry said at present there was no minimum distance specified between a wind farm and housing, with sensible and sound national policy guidance needed to enable local councils to make the appropriate decisions.

Newt pond trio resign over baiting criticism

VOLUNTEERS who were helping to maintain a popular pond – and had hoped to teach children how to fish there – have resigned after they were criticised for teaching a girl how to bait a hook.

Brothers David and Peter Williams and brother-in-law Stan Pridmore had been helping to clear vegetation and repair fishing platforms round the newt pond at Castle Playing Fields in Haverhill, ready for the start of the fishing season.

All three had agreed to undergo CRB checks so they could organise sessions to teach children how to fish, and also hold competitions for the adults.

Their efforts were recently featured in the Weekly News, along with their call for St Edmundsbury Borough Council to provide more facilities in the area. They especially wanted toilets for use by fishermen, as well as parents and children visiting the nearby playground.

David Williams said a meeting had now been held with the council's parks department and members of Parkway Residents Association after the article was published, but it had prompted them to resign as volunteers.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

He said: "I helped a young girl to put maggots on her line and fish, while her mother was there with her, and I was told I should not have done so. We won't be going up there any more because of this and it is a shame, because it is the children who will miss out."

A council spokesperson said: "A meeting of the Castle Playing Field Newt Pond Volunteers Forum was held on June 22, at which issues around appropriate ways of working were discussed."

"It was attended by volunteers, representatives of the Parkway Residents' Association and the parks service."

"The meeting resulted in all three fishing pond volunteers resigning, two of them also resigning from the Parkway Residents' Association."

"The issues around appropriate ways of working in a public open space have to be agreed because any liability for failing in due diligence falls on the public purse, and child protection issues must be respected at all times."

Sasha's week in the House

SIXTH former Sasha El-Halwani is considering a career in politics after gaining a work experience placement at the House of Commons.

The 17-year-old Castle Manor Enterprise and Technology College student is also a member of the Haverhill Young Chamber.

Her name was put forward for the placement after Haverhill's new MP Matthew Hancock, contacted the college to see if a student would like to spend time working with him as an intern.

Sasha takes her A-levels this year in English, history, psychology, government and politics, then hopes to go on to university to study international relations and possibly Arabic. Eventually she hopes to work for the Serious Organised Crime Agency or in a field to combat terrorism.

Sasha said: "It is something I have always been really interested in."

"The work experience was just perfect for me. I spent Friday in the constituency with Matthew, then he was on the regional Politics Show, so

New career path?: Sasha El-Halwani at Westminster with West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock. CP

I went along to that too. Then I spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Westminster.

"It was much more exciting than I expected, I thought it might be boring, but it wasn't at all. I went along to Prime Minister's Question Time and I really enjoyed it. It was really good to see on the inside how it all works."

"I had not really considered a career in politics, but I am thinking about doing something like that now. Matthew is such a lovely man, he was a pleasure to be with."

Pupils take part in bigger and better music festival

MORE than 300 youngsters spent the day making music together and the evening performing for parents and friends.

This year's Haverhill Schools' Music Festival was bigger and better than ever, with the children involved in performing music on a professional open air stage. The festival, sponsored by Haverhill Town Council, took place last Thursday with schools rehearsing during the day before the concert in the evening.

BY JO DEEKS

The majority of schools in and around Haverhill were involved, including Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Castle Hill, Clare and Parkway Middle Schools, and Burton End, Coupsals, Clements, Hundon, Kedington, Thurlow and Westfield primary schools.

Due to the growing success of the festival, this year's event was held in the open air on the playing fields at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College.

Ryan Lester, deputy head at Castle Manor said: "The festival has become a heart-warming celebration showcasing the talent of Haverhill's young musicians – the quality of the music and production improves year by year."

Castle Manor's band 'Nice Manors' entertained the arriving audience and the concert featured four collaborative songs that all schools sang and performed together, including a specially-commissioned song by local musician Kirsten Gunderson entitled Forever's In Our Hands.

Company merger brings jobs to town

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO insurance companies in Haverhill have merged, bringing more jobs to the town.

Suffolk Insurance merged last Thursday with Saffron Insurance, which has seven offices employing a total of 100 staff.

Geoff Carter, managing director of Suffolk Insurance, said: "My customers are very important to me and I did not want to sell to a company that would just transfer my customers and friends into a faceless organisation."

"I've had a long association with Saffron they have the same high standards and customer service focus as I do. They're a family-fee business, with a team that cares. I wanted to find an owner who would be around for a long time, as will I."

Geoff and his staff are staying at their current premises in Haverhill and have been joined by Saffron's commercial team of 25 from the Saffron Walden head office.

Geoff said as well as benefiting from economies of scale as part of a larger group, the company would continue to offer a personal service to customers, while expanding its commercial operations.

Saffron Insurance, which has offices across the region, has more plans to expand.

Saffron managing director David Beswick, said: "We are delighted that Geoff and his team are joining us as we both run like-minded businesses."

Ahoy there! Three pirates are off to find treasure. Picture: Keith Jones 659421.

Pirates set off on a toddle

SOME tiny pirates toddled round a field and followed their map to a trunk full of treasure.

A total of 60 youngsters aged from just three months to five years took part in a sponsored toddle at the Tiny Toes Nursery in Homefield Road, Haverhill.

Organiser Danielle Johnson said all the children who took part toddled very well and discovered a haul of medals, stickers and certificates at the end of the route. The sponsored event was in aid of Dr Barnado's and £150 has already been received, with the remainder due to be handed in next week.

Sunshine helps town show pull in crowds

Huge crowds enjoyed the warm sunshine at this year's two-day Haverhill Show and a healthy profit is expected to have been raised.

The show on Haverhill Recreation Ground, organised in association with the Weekly News, is the main fund-raiser for LAMPH, the Haverhill-based charity for children and adults with disabilities. This year, Haverhill Round Table stepped in to help organise it and show committee chairman Mick Driver said it was a great success.

He said: "It turned out to be one of the best shows for many years. The weather was fantastic and the public had a great time. People were coming up to us and saying how great it was."

"The show is run entirely by volunteers who put in an enormous amount of time and effort. I would like to say a big thank you to all the local businesses who made donations, with special thanks to Haverhill Round Table and Charles Gurteen."

A hot air balloon was tethered at the show and the winner of a free ride has yet to be contacted. A television set donated by Chapman's was won by Kylie Warwick, of Lordcroft Lane.

The baby show was popular despite the hot weather and overall winner was 9-month-old Keeley Murtagh. Other results were: 0-6 months – 1, Amelia Plumridge; 2, Lydia Seymour; 3, Georgia Murtagh. 6-12 months – 1, Keeley Murtagh; 2, Lily-May Burt; 3, Kieron Jacob Rowlinson-Spillet. 12-18 months – 1, Demi Goddard; 2, Oliver Reid; 3, Charlie Nunn. 18-24 months – 1, Max Anderson; 2, Liam Bailey; 3, George O'Reilly.

Entries were up in the fun dog show with Barney chosen by judge Bronwen MacKenzie as the dog she would most like to take home. Other winners were: best puppy – Digby; best child handled – Lenny; best long haired – Charlie; best short fur – Jazzy; best walking on lead – Saffron; best six legs – Jim Grimwood and Buttons; odd couple – Charlie and Biscuit; old girl – Buffy; waggiest tail – Archie; best bitch – Bella and Blossom, best dog – Vinny Johns.

Campaign encourages adoption

A CAMPAIGN aimed at encouraging more Suffolk parents to adopt a child has been launched – with 23 children already waiting to be adopted in the county.

Suffolk County Council's adoption agency launched the recruitment drive to raise awareness about adoption and to highlight the urgent need for more people to come forward and adopt a child.

The 23 children currently waiting to be adopted include sibling groups, babies and children with additional needs. Some of these children have been waiting a long time to find a family.

The adoption agency is hoping the campaign will give them some much-needed help in finding a family.

As part of the campaign, there will be information stands at Tesco in Haverhill tomorrow, Waitrose in Newmarket on Monday and Waitrose in Bury St Edmunds on Tuesday, where staff will be on hand between 10am–3pm to talk to people about adoption.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Sally Stoker, head of adoption at the county council, said: "We would encourage anyone who has ever thought about adopting to come along to one of these information stands and find out more."

"We know many people wrongly believe they cannot adopt because they do not meet the criteria for reasons such as age, disability, sexual orientation, being single, or their financial circumstances."

"We hope these information stands will give us an opportunity to dispel a few myths about adoption and better inform people, while also raising awareness that we need more adopters to come forward."

To find out more about adopting a Suffolk child, contact Suffolk Adoption Agency on 0800 389 9471 or visit www.suffolkadoption.com.

Runners in the pink for cancer cash

MORE local runners pounded the pavements by taking part in the Cambridge Race for Life event on Sunday in support of cancer research.

Haverhill mum Debra Leggoe, who also ran the race last year, was joined by 10-year-old daughter Madeleine and other friends on Sunday, along with 8,000 other women and girls in Cambridge.

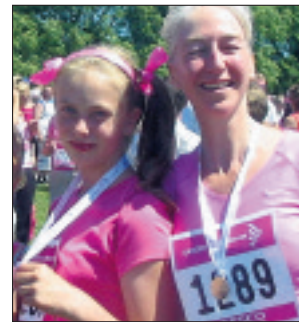

Debra ran for her mum who survived cancer and a family friend who did not. Both Madeleine and Debra also ran to support Madeleine's aunt, who is currently battling breast cancer.

Debra shaved five minutes off last year's time, despite the hot weather, and Madeleine completed the course "comfortably". Between them they have raised around £100 for the charity and both intend to be there again next year.

Four staff members from the Haverhill Community Resource Unit, a day service run by Suffolk County Council for adults with learning disabilities, also took part in the race.

Emma Wymer, Kristy Stocking, Dawn Kellaway and Rosie Palmer all completed the event.

Rick to roll out the hits at Audley End

SHOULDER pads, leggings, The A Team – just when we thought we were shot of them, they're all making a serious comeback.

It may be 2010, a brand-new decade of novelty and promise, but somehow, like DJ Alex Drake, we seem to have found ourselves transported back to the 1980s.

Nowhere is this present nostalgia for decades past more apparent than in the charts. Retro bands are regrouping faster than you can say Sherbert Fountain, ready to relive some memories and re-charm wistful fans.

After more than 15 years of living the quiet life in London with his family, 80s pop icon Rick Astley has found himself back in the spotlight once more with a new single and a string of live dates.

When we chat, Rick has just returned from supporting none other than Peter Kay as part of the comic's Tour That Doesn't Tour.

"It was pretty bonkers, but really good fun," says Rick, in his friendly, Lancashire accent. "He's a very interesting character but he's unbelievably bright. He's really on the ball."

This latest taste of touring seems to suit family man Rick, who, rather than opt for wild after-gig parties, was happy to turn in after his set and spend a leisurely night in with a takeaway.

"It was a luxury way to do it really," he says. "I rented myself a nice apartment in Manchester so I could just potter over to the venue, do a little sound check, and because I was opening I was finished by 8 o'clock. It was like, have a nice glass of wine, a bit of pizza, put a movie on . . . It was a nice way to do things," he smiles.

As he joins a host of fellow 80s stars to launch this year's Audley End Picnic Concerts, the chart veteran talks to JENNIFER SHELTON about pop, Peter Kay and THAT internet campaign

Since the spectacular return of Take That in 2006, there have been plenty of familiar faces returning to the music scene. So what prompted Rick to get back into the business?

"I think I stumbled into it to a great degree. I'd retired, packed it in. I wasn't going to do this ever again. Then I got an offer to just go out and sing again, to see if I liked it – and I really enjoyed it. I loved being back on stage. I played some really small venues and it felt – real.

"I also felt that enough time had past [since his chart time in the 80s] so that I could enjoy it without it being naff. And there was a time when I would've thought it was naff just to go and revisit everything, whereas now I think it's so far removed that it's nostalgic."

Rick harbours plenty of fond memories of the 80s, including topping the charts with his first single, Never Gonna Give You Up, so he's as happy as anyone to embrace this trend for reigniting the past.

"I think that's just what happens," he continues. "I'm sure we're going to get that with the 90s, when music changed massively because of the whole rave culture and clubbing. I think you need to get a couple of decades away from something before it starts to be cool again.

"I've got an 18 year-old daughter and half the time I think she's just stepped out of an 80s video, with the way she dresses and everything. And all her friends are the same."

How does she feel about her old man's pop career? Rick chuckles, then says, seriously: "Like every daughter or son should be, she's 50 per cent highly embarrassed of her dad, and 50 per cent proud. I think that's a good sort of level."

Rick's new single, Lights Out, hit the charts early last month. His first release in nearly 17 years, it seems to signal a move away from the poppy numbers he's best known for to more soulful, sensitive ground. Yet despite what could be called a comeback hit, Rick is taking a distinctly casual approach to the future.

"I think if things go ok I think I'll do an album. But if we don't get any joy I'll just concentrate on live gigs, like the open air ones. I see it as a bit of fun. I'm taking it one week at a time."

Rick's summer line-up includes joining Kim Wilde, Howard Jones and T'Pau for Back to the 80s at the first of this year's Cambridge News-sponsored Audley End Picnic Concerts later this month. He will be playing a mix of hits during his stint on stage – so expect all your 80s favourites – in a concert that will culminate with Audley End's traditional firework spectacular.

"All the outdoor summer gigs are usually really good fun, so I'm sure it'll be great."

■ Back to the 80s, Audley End House, Saffron Walden, Saturday, July 17 at 7.30pm. Tickets £31, £29.50. Visit www.picnicconcerts.com

Back on tour: 80s pop star Rick Astley.

Also rolling back the decades at Audley End on July 17 . . .

● Singer-songwriter Howard Jones, best known for hits New Song and What Is Love?, became one of the defining figures of mid 80s synthpop. He recently released a new album, Ordinary Heroes, which he toured in the UK last year.

● Kim Wilde achieved instant success with her debut single, Kids in America, which hit the number two spot in 1981. The daughter of 60s hitmaker Marty Wilde, Kim clocked up a total of 17 UK Top 40 hit singles throughout the decade.

After settling down to have a family, the singer rekindled her love of gardening and went on to act as a designer for Channel 4's Better Gardens. Hopefully she'll be impressed with the grounds at Audley End.

● Named after a Vulcan priestess in Star Trek, T'Pau made waves in the UK and the US during the 80s. The ballad China in Your Hand spent five weeks at number one in the UK charts, and frontwoman Carol Decker continues to tour as well as make the occasional appearance on TV panel shows.

Best and brightest comedy acts to road test rib-ticklers

Rollin' in the good times . . .

YOU don't have to go to Edinburgh to catch the hottest in British and international comedy this summer.

Right here in Cambridge, some of the biggest names in the business will be bringing us laughs (and maybe the odd groan) as part of the Cambridge Comedy Festival, starting tonight.

Featuring more than 40 shows across three venues, this is a rare opportunity to see some of the stars of comedy perform intimate shows as they preview new material and hone their shows for the famous Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Funnyman:
Jack
Whitehall.

The Cambridge Comedy Festival is now in its third year and since 2007 has more than tripled in size. This year the likes of Kevin Bridges, Jack Whitehall and Mark Watson will be performing at The Junction and The Boathouse.

For information, call (01223) 511511 or visit the website www.cambridgecomedyfestival.com

Here's a few of the highlights:

● Kevin Bridges, tonight, The Junction – a combination of astute observations and sharp one-liners have made this young comic one of the hottest new acts of the moment.

The Glaswegian has been a regular on Live at the Apollo and was nominated for the Edinburgh Comedy Award at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival 2009, where his act became the fastest to sell out all 28 nights.

See what all the fuss is about when he takes to the stage at 9pm. Tickets cost £10.50.

● Barry & Stuart, tonight, The Junction – join stars of Derren Brown's 3D Magic Spectacular for a preview of weird and wonderful new material from their forthcoming Edinburgh show, 98% Séance, plus a selection of their most devious tricks to date.

Since winning Young Magician of the Year, the pair were quickly picked up to star in their own television series, the Golden Rose Award-nominated Magick.

The magic starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £10.50.

● Mark Watson, tomorrow, The Junction – the multi-award-winning comedian returns to his university town for what promises to be his most surprising and personal show yet.

Host of BBC's We Need Answers and Never Mind The Buzzcocks, the Queens' College graduate is also the star of cult Radio 4 series Mark Watson Makes The World Substantially Better.

His show starts at 9pm and tickets cost £10.50.

CLASSIC rock 'n' roll songs from the period 1955-1960 feature in Let the Good Times Roll, a stage show that will have the audience at Haverhill Arts Centre stomping and clapping in their seats on Saturday.

The energetic show, starting at 7.30pm, tells the history of rock 'n' roll from its inception in 1955 when DJ Alan Freed coined the phrase, to 1960, by which time Elvis had been inducted into the army, Buddy Holly, Eddie Cochran, Ritchie Valens and the Big Bopper were all dead and Jerry Lee Lewis had been blacklisted for marrying his 14-year-old cousin.

Starring acclaimed boogie woogie pianist and singer Peter Gill with his band, State 51, the show features favourites such as Great Balls of Fire, Johnny B Goode, Blue Suede Shoes, Rock Around The Clock, La Bamba, Peggy Sue, Summertime Blues and Chantilly Lane.

Gill has been heralded as one of the UK's hottest boogie woogie talents. In 1999 he was hand-picked from a national search to co-open Jool's Holland's Jam House in Birmingham as one of the two famed 'Duelling Pianists'. Since then he has been in constant demand on the cabaret and corporate circuit.

The big film

THE fourth and final instalment of the computer-animated series puts a fairy-tale spin on It's A Wonderful Life, but Shrek Forever After lacks the heartfelt emotion of Frank Capra's 1946 classic.

The adventures of the jolly green ogre have been on a steady decline since the wildly imaginative 2001 original film, so it is to director Mike Mitchell's credit that this picture is arguably the best of the sequels. Still, his film relies heavily on the love we have invested in the characters and their fates, and revisits many familiar faces from earlier chapters including Pinocchio, Gingerbread Man and the Three Little Pigs.

Moreover, Mitchell steals shamelessly from Disney's Beauty And The Beast for his finale.

Shrek (voiced by Myers) is suffering mid-life angst with meowing kids and his beautiful and pungent wife, Fiona (Diaz). Villagers are no longer scared of him and the ogre begins to wonder if life holds any more surprises.

In his hour of desperation, Shrek meets the conniving Rumpelstiltskin (Dohrn), who offers a tantalising deal: he will gift Shrek one whole day as a scary ogre, just like before, if the father agrees to sign away one day of his childhood.

Shrek agrees to the Faustian pact, blind to Rumpelstiltskin's devious plan: to erase the day that Shrek was born and thereby alter the future.

Suddenly, Shrek finds himself in an alternative universe where Fiona is the leader of an underground movement of ogres, good friend Donkey (Murphy) no longer recognises him and legendary assassin Puss In Boots (Banderas) has piled on the pounds to become a lazy house cat.

Indeed, he no longer answers to his heroic monicker. "That is a name I have outgrown," he purrs.

In order to win back Fiona's love, Shrek must join forces with Donkey and Puss to break the pact before the sands in Rumpelstiltskin's hourglass run out.

Shrek Forever After brings the long-running saga to a lively close, reminding each of the characters about the love and friendship which bind them together.

Dohrn's pint-sized, snivelling villain is a colourful addition to the cast and he brings some much needed vim.

The 3D version exploits the eye-popping format during the chase sequences but Mitchell's film loses nothing in 2D.

Poor condition planting tips from TV's gardening guru

I caught up with TV gardening guru Alan Titchmarsh recently, who has been busy covering the horticultural show circuit offering advice to the public on all-weather plants which will grow in the worst conditions.

At BBC Gardeners' World Live in Birmingham, he started on the subject of clay.

Those with clay soil often despair that they're unable to dig it in during really wet weather when it becomes so sticky and gluey it resembles a quagmire, while at the first sign of hot weather it goes as hard as rock and even the strongest gardener won't be able to get a fork into it.

Of course, you can improve heavy clay soil by digging in as much well-rotted organic matter as you can and adding plenty of gritty horticultural sand to help drainage. Clay soil doesn't drain easily and tends to become waterlogged in persistent wet weather.

Alan, however, says clay isn't all bad and that as a general rule don't try to fight the conditions,

by Hannah Stephenson

but make the most of plants that are happy growing in your type of soil.

Clay particles hold in nutrients, so the more clay and humus there is in the soil, the more nutrients it can hold. This means that clay is actually among the most fertile of soils.

He says: "Willows love damp earth and clay. Salix daphnoides (Violet Willow) can be grown like dogwood. Chop it down in February and it will grow new stems, providing winter colour and foliage in spring. It's fast growing and will reach 8ft in each season."

Other great shrubs Alan recommends for clay include Viburnum 'Pragense', a rounded evergreen type with narrow, textured leaves and clusters of pink buds which open to white flowers in late spring. Euphorbias, spiraeas, rodgersias and, of course, roses, will all thrive in clay soil.

"There's the wonderful Rosa rugosa – the flowers look like crepe paper, don't get mildew or blackspot, make waist-high informal hedges and have hips following the flowers," Alan adds.

Other plants which do well in clay soils include Choisya ternata (Mexican orange blossom), Hydrangea paniculata, Kerria japonica, Mahonia x media 'Charity' and Weigela 'Kosteriana Variegata'.

While clay may be one problem, shade is another, but there are plants which will survive the most inhospitable situations. Hostas love shade and you can buy copper collars to place around them to prevent slugs and snails chomping their way through the young shoots.

Another exotic-looking plant which loves shade and needs relatively little maintenance, says Alan, is the fatsia, with its bold, glossy leaves. If the frost catches it, just chop off the damaged leaves and strong new growth should soon appear.

If you have dry shade, look no further than Acanthus mollis, commonly known as bear's breech, a perennial which will cope well with drought and poor soils.

"It's an architectural beauty with towering, stiff spikes of purple-hooded, white or pink flowers above good, glossy green leaves," Alan adds.

Some bamboos will also thrive in shade, but make sure if you have limited space you buy the clump-forming varieties rather than those which spread rampantly and are then extremely difficult to dig up.

Phyllostachys nigra, black bamboo, which reaches a height of 5m (16ft), is a brilliant clump-forming type – with arching canes which turn black after a couple of years – and looks wonderful in a modern, minimalist setting. It can also be grown in large containers if they are not allowed to dry out, but needs some direct sunlight to ripen the canes fully.

Blue bamboo, Himalayacalamus hookerianus 'Himalaya Blue', which grows to 6m, is perfect for smaller gardens, adding tall interest to shady areas, with its blue-green stems.

Look carefully and you will find a wider range of all-weather plants than you first thought.

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square.

Tee'd up: The Seat Leon Cupra R.

Leon Cupra R is a greener hot hatch

JUST weeks after Seat launched its most economical Leon to date in the shape of the latest Ecomotive the stylish Spanish brand is teeing up the showroom debut of its most potent Leon yet: the awesome Cupra R.

While the green-themed new Ecomotive with its road tax-busting CO2 rating of just 99g/km is all about economy and environmental responsibility, the 265PS Cupra R is, undeniably, aimed at ultra-hot hatch enthusiasts with high octane fuel coursing through their veins.

Storming into UK showrooms now, the latest Leon is nothing less than the most powerful SEAT yet offered for sale in the brand's 25-year UK history.

That 265PS power peak is the product of a tuned 2.0-litre, four cylinder turbocharged petrol engine – revised by the engineers at SEAT's state-of-the-art Technical Centre in Martorell to make it more potent, even, than the current Leon Cupra which is good for a still impressive 240PS from its 2.0-litre powerplant.

The 16V petrol engine features a new, high-pressure fuel pump injector to satisfy the greater performance demands and allow it to meet strict EU5 emissions standards while revisions to the electronic engine management system, plus increased maximum turbo pressure (1.9 bar at max output and 2.2 bar at max torque, versus 1.8 bar for the 240PS 2.0-litre TSI in Leon Cupra) complete the powerplant changes beneath the SEAT's svelte 'clamshell' bonnet.

The torque generated by the new Cupra R's refined and willing engine is, arguably, even more impressive than its power peak. No less than 350Nm is on offer at just 2,500 rpm – that's a full 50 Nm more than the already muscular Leon Cupra.

The result? Near-supercar levels of acceleration and performance. The benchmark 0-62mph dash is dispatched in only 6.2 seconds while, where legal, Leon Cupra R drivers can thence press onward to a top speed of 155mph. Impressive stuff.

As impressive, perhaps, is the new Leon's frugality. Combined economy of 34.9mpg and CO2 limited to just 190g/km make the newcomer among the greenest ultra-hot hatches around. Not green enough to qualify for the brand's Ecomotive badge, of course, but markedly more environmentally responsible than a number of rivals which have CO2 emissions of 220g/km and above.

Top pair in fine form to foil leaders

HAVERHILL mens' B team battled to a creditable 4-4 draw against Norfolk and Suffolk League, Division Three leaders Thetford in the gathering gloom.

The strong pairing of Adam Fowle and Peter Cannon beat the Thetford first pair 7-5, 7-5 and then beat the second 7-5, 6-3. However, the second string of Ray Goddard and Steve Withers lost 0-6, 4-6 and 2-6, 4-6 with the match winding up at 10.15pm.

■ The Haverhill mixed team's unbeaten start to the Halstead and District League came unstuck in their fifth match. After four successive wins the team of Kris Leach and Marcia Armstrong, Joan Ford and Billy Hudson and Gill Argent and Ross Tobin narrowly lost 5-4 to Lavenham B.

The team of Adam Fowle and Gill Argent, Armstrong and Jake Warner and Josh Dashwood and Lucy Hardwick crashed 8-1 to Essex B.

But they got back to winning ways, beating Braintree 7-2, Abu Cartwright-Thomas and Dashwood winning three games and the Armstrong/Tobin and Hardwick/ Nigel Fitch combinations both winning twice.

Tail-enders steal show

■ From Back Page in 10 overs and Sudbury had to bring back their lightning-quick bowler Coetzee to try to stop the visitors' recording a stunning victory.

He removed the gallant Sharpe for an inspirational 47 to bring in young Aaron Forshaw with just eight needed. Pass took a boundary off Halliday and then took a single to take him to 28 and leave Forshaw on strike.

However, he was bowled to leave Haverhill an agonising two runs short. The Sunday second team also ran their Sudbury counterparts close before subsiding by 11 runs. The visitors batted first on the parched Manor Road ground and ran up 203 for 5, thanks to a 137-run partnership between Dave Shropshire and Brian Hyett. Haverhill, though, made a good start and were on 46 before they lost their first wicket.

However, the backbone of their reply was a brilliant 86 from Sam Hartshorn, who was aided in a 60-run stand by Danny Gunn, who was out for a very good 30.

A few cheap wickets fell before a rapid unbeaten 22 from Steve Saville took them to 192.

Haverhill's two Saturday sides continued their march towards promotion.

The first team, who top Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Two, eased to a six-wicket success at bottom club East Bergholt, chalking up 152 for 4 after bowling out the hosts for 151.

The second team clash between the two sides in Division Six ended in a four-wicket win for Haverhill, who scored 200 for 6 in response to East Bergholt's 199 for 7.

Blaster Bishop!

SIMON Bishop cracked an unbeaten 130 for Abington as they put Mill Green to the sword in Division Two of the Adams Harrison Midweek League.

Abington, who looked on course for a league record score at one point, totalled 242 for 2 with Keith Vincent weighing in with 64 not out and Matt Thomas 37.

Mill Green could only muster 97 against a side on course for promotion.

However, Bishop was not the only century-maker in the week's round of matches.

Joe Reed took 109 off the Sawston attack to lift Brockley to 158 for 4 in their Division One clash. But, in a thrilling finish, Sawston reached their target with a ball to spare and five wickets in hand, thanks to the efforts of Liam Flynn (55 not out) and Sean Savage (30).

Then Sawston went to Weston Colville and beat them, the home side scoring 156 for 8 in response to Sawston's 187 for 6.

Haverhill skipper Joe Woodley led from the front with 3 for 22 as Babraham battled to 114 for 8 against the leaders. He then left it to the batsmen to get the home side in, Sam Powell making 63 and Simon Youngs finishing it off with 37 not out as they reached 115 for 1.

Horseheath made Saffron Walden fight all the way but with only 96 to defend, they were always up against it. Steve Larsen (3 for 20) and Jonny Hancock (3 for 18) did the damage for Walden, who totalled 97 for 5 thanks to Rob Smith's 55.

In Division Two, Lawrence Hall took 4 for 30 but Long Melford failed to reach Manor's 116 for 7, a score built around an unbeaten 46 from Steve Hale. Steve Hale built a sound 46 not out but Melford fell short on 104 for 6.

Great Yeldham stay in the hunt for promotion from Division 3A after beating Highpoint. Batting first they scored 157 for 4 – Nick Wright (49) and Gary Laver (37 not out) leading the way – but that was too much for Highpoint, who could only manage 131 for 4.

In the same division, Wrattling Lions beat Haverhill II, scoring 115 for 8 and restricting their opponents to 105 for 9.

Helions Bumpstead are now firm favourites for the Division 3B title after hammering Abington II.

Justin Rose hit 40 and Chris Raynor managed an unbeaten 29 in their 144 for 7, before Steve Jones took 3 for 17 to peg Abington to 97.

CRICKET STICK CCA SENIOR LEAGUE

DANIEL Kindred was Horseheath's tormentor with 6 for 41 as Fulbourn triumphed by 73 runs.

The all-rounder was on top form and was backed up by Daniel Wright (3 for 43) and Tom Kindred (1 for 24) as the visitors were bundled out for 144, openers Daniel Goldsmith (81) and Martin Farrant (35) the only batsmen to reach double figures.

Earlier, Gary Ellis took three wickets as Fulbourn reached 217 for 5.

Maclean ready to take on the world

CAROLINE Maclean is one of the most experienced players on the Great Britain team having taken part in three Olympic Games.

The 35-year-old customer services assistant from Haverhill (pictured) was a key member of the women's wheelchair basketball side which won bronze in the Federation of Small Businesses (FSB)-sponsored European Championships at Stoke Mandeville last year.

And the guard, who plays for Essex Outlaws, will be pivotal in the World Championships which start in Birmingham this week and continue to July 17.

Maclean and the squad warmed-up for the massive test in the Federation of Small Businesses (FSB) World Wheelchair Basketball Challenge in Birmingham at the weekend.

And she believes the national side have made great strides since their bronze medal success last year.

Maclean, who suffers from polio, said: "Last weekend's tournament was great as it allowed us to compete against some of the top nations. Everbody got a game."

"We will watch the film of the games and, hopefully, work on things before the tournament starts."

"There have been a lot of changes to the team and we're developing as a unit. We have a lot more strength and are tactically more aware."

"We also have a good blend of youth and experience and we're getting better all the time."

The World Championship, at the National Indoor Arena in Birmingham, were a massive test and it will allow family and friends to watch the action.

Maclean, who has been in the team for 15 years, said: "We've got things to work on, including our shooting, but we get confidence from competing against the best in the world."

"We now know we can compete and this tournament is a stepping-stone towards the Olympics in London in 2012.."

Rovers' pitched out

Haverhill Rovers' pre-season preparations have been thrown into confusion because the pitch at the New Croft is not ready.

It means tomorrow's (Friday) scheduled Keith Willis Memorial Cup clash against AFC Sudbury has been cancelled and the game against an Ipswich Town XI a week tomorrow – originally expected to be the official opening game for their new ground – could be played at Town's training complex.

Officials expect the playing surface to be fit by August 1, which means the home game against Needham Market two days later should go ahead.

Tail-end heroes

Sharpe, Pass go close to ending Haverhill's Sunday hoodoo

ONE of the great tail-end partnerships in the club's history almost propelled Haverhill to an unlikely victory on Sunday.

And, although they were beaten again, it was felt the thriller at Sudbury breathed new life into their winless Hunts County Bats Sunday League, Division One campaign.

Haverhill restricted Sudbury to 213 thanks to some exceptional fielding and catching, but their innings plumbed the depths before lifting them to within a hair's breadth of an astounding victory. Wobbling at 27 for 4 and then on the brink of defeat at 120 for 7, Haverhill clawed their way back thanks to a stunning partnership between Dean Sharpe and Sam Pass. They smashed 70 runs
